

Compass Marketing Sponsors "Bartending for Charity Competition" at The Rockfish Restaurant March 14, 2008

Maryland elected officials competed at the "First Annual Bartending for Charity Competition" at The Rockfish Restaurant on March 18th and March 25th from 6 to 11pm. The Rockfish held the competition to determine what charity would receive the $5,000 they had raised throughout the year from several local businesses and corporate sponsors. Teams of four elected officials competed in the preliminary competitions in March. The top two teams advanced to the finals on Tuesday, April 1 with the team representing the Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation charity triumphant at the finale on April 1st. A large check (donated by Compass Marketing) was presented at the end of the night. Del. James King (team captain for JDRF Charity) said, "I am thrilled to have the money go to JDRF, but all the charities will receive the tips their teams earned."

Names (L to R): Delegate Craig Rice; Delegate James King; Kristin Jones, Chief of Staff, Speaker of the House Michael Busch's office; Dan White, Compass Marketing, Inc.

Other charities the teams were competing for included the ALS Association, Alzheimer's Association, Maryland River Keepers, Montgomery County Hospice, MS Society, Pathfinders for Autism, Take Charge Program, and Thomas Hunter Lowe Scholarship.
